2	The illustration on the bottom-right side of the page depicts a young man holding a pink, white, and blue transgender pride flag.
6	However, for some people, the sex they were assigned at birth does not match the gender they identify with. This is called being TRANSGENDER. "...I was assigned male at birth, but I identify as female. My pronouns are she/her/hers and I am transgender." "...I'm Alex, and I'm transgender..."
7	But not everyone identifies as female or male. Some people identify as NON-BINARY. This refers to any gender identity that is not male or female. This includes agender... ...bigender people who identify as two or more genders simultaneously or fluctuating between them; genderqueer people who identify as different genders at different times.
8	The illustration on the middle-left side of the page depicts a young man with facial hair holding up a dress.
11	Some people are also born INTERSEX. This is when someone is born with a body type that does not fit typical definitions of male and female
12	Neo-pronouns are usually used by trans and intersex people, but they can be used by anyone!
