1	When people say, "I don't see color," they think it means that they don't discriminate against others for how they look. But using this phrase means that the experiences of people of color, their humanness, and the everyday effects of racism are ignored.
20	Inspiring a new Black movement of MAHOGANY, BRASS, AND HICKORY...because change still needs to come. ..."BLACK LIVES MATTER"
29	The illustration on this page depicts several individuals holding signs. Some of the signs read: "Defend Dreamers! #CITIZENSHIP FOR ALL," "STOP ASIAN HATE," and "BLACK LIVES MATTER."
33	While racism is still a big problem today, we can actively fight against it.
