33	I'm not a man. And just because I'm wearing a snapback and Chucks, that doesn't mean I'm a dud.            ...I get that all the time, you know.            Always mistaken for a dude.
116	In love? I ask, confused. They've been married my whole life, even before the Supreme Court said they could.            And, huh. Two old ladies married to each other...that isn't something I've seen before.
198	Maybe one day my boy-crazy switch will get flipped. But right now I stare, waiting for something, anything, to happen and well nothing does.            My switch seems...permanently off.
230	You're not gay, Katherine, is what she said whispering gay her face, like stone, her eyes, like glass, coo, unblinking, black. Gay? Still whispering. You're too young to know...that.            ...You're not gay. What would people think?            There's just...there's no way. Okay?
283	But what can I say? That Kate's afraid to like me the way I like her, or maybe she never has liked me...in that way at all?
290	Did someone somehow find out that I might want to kiss a girl?
321	But if you're a girl [flick]            who likes girls [flick]            then the same girls [flick]            who like boys who look like girls [flick]            think you're the weird one.
325	But I can't tell if you're gay, okay. Only you can know that.
326	I can't tell you if you're gay, okay.            I can't tell you if you're gay, okay.            I can't tell you if you're gay, okay.
330	Do you think you are?            Gay, I mean?            Lesbianic?            ...Lesbionic isn't a word. I said. I know, but it sounds cool. Do you...do you think it sounds like...you?            Yes, I guess? Probably. Likely. Definitely.
331	I never had a crush on you.            Only...only Tam.
